Wilson's Plan Secret but He Expects Hasty Fall of the Huerta
Regime

NEWS SUPPRESSED AT CAPITAL

No Word of Defeat by the Rebels at Tierra Blanca
Has Leaked
Out

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 26.—United States Consul Canada late this afternoon stated that he expected John Lind, the president's special envoy, to return from Tuxpam immediately on a merchant vessel. Lind went to Tuxpam last night with Rear Admiral Fletcher, on the Rhode Island.

Canada said that Lind had been ordered back because Washington is preparing to take another step in the Mexican situation which might precipitate grave results. Canada declines to give any intimation as to what the step might be or its probable results.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Dr. William Bayard Hale is expected to reach this city tomorrow or Friday. He comes direct from his various conferences with Carranza at Nogales. As soon as he arrives, President Wilson will learn at first hand just what manner of man the Mexican revolutionary chieftain is and what this government may expect from him if he finally gets control of Mexico. Meanwhile the present diplomatic boycott policy will continue.

Huerta Regime Totters

Advices from Mexico City today say that the Huerta regime is desperately endeavoring to raise money. The army is threatening revolt. The reports of Villa's successes at Juarez are leaking out despite the strictest kind of censorship and the soldiers of Blanquet's command are declared to be demanding that they get back pay without delay. To meet these demands Huerta is trying to force loans from the bankers of the capital. His success is problematical. Because of this the state department firmly believes that the days of the great regime are numbered and has calmly settled down to wait in silence.

Only meager reports of the fighting about Juarez have been received by the state department. They simply confirm the press dispatches of the struggle.

The situation at Tuxpam and Tampico is much improved. Reports were looked for late today from John Lind and Admiral Fletcher who are on an inspection tour. It is believed they will say there is no immediate necessity for the landing of American marines at either port.

More Troops to Border

The war department today ordered the 19th U. S. infantry to El Paso, at the urgent request of General Bliss, in command of the border patrol. General Bliss believes greater protection is needed for Americans in the vicinity of Juarez.

Evacuate Tampico

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 26.—Persistent but unconfirmable reports reached here this afternoon that the federalists evacuated the port of Tampico yesterday afternoon, and that the constitutionalists are now in possession of the town.

A train of twenty-five cars loaded with federal soldiers today was en route from Mexico City to Vera Cruz.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26.—The citizens of Mexico City today were entirely ignorant of the disastrous defeat administered to the Huerta forces by the rebels at Tierra Blanca. A rigid press censorship kept them from knowing the facts. Native newspapers published stories to the effect that the federalists had routed the Villa forces and were about to recapture Juarez.

YOUTH FACES TRIAL

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 26.—William James Collins, 18 year old youth brought from Kingston, Mo., and accused of murdering John P. Benson, a homebuilder, for whom he worked at Ceresat, Alta., must face trial for his wife in Supreme court on Thursday. Collins was committed for trial today. The youthful prisoner took the verdict of the court coolly.

HURT WHEN TRAINS CRASH

WORTH OVER MILLION

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Jacob Joseph Walker, late president of the Coss Printing company, who died on October 16, left an estate estimated at $1,151,577.19, according to an inventory filed today.

OFFERS SELF IN AN AD AS SLAVE TO ANYONE WHO WILL GIVE FOOD

DENVER, Col., Nov. 26.—"Does any slave driver want a slave? This is a good chance. I must eat and will work faithfully."

This is the advertisement inserted in a local newspaper today by a man giving his name as John Niemand and "the earth below and the sky above as his home."

"I've been in Denver fourteen months and cannot find anything," said Niemand. "I have to eat. The Lord has so constituted human beings that they must eat. If I were a horse some man would own me and feed me."

"Now, I want to be a human horse. I am willing to work and even for a slave driver, and work hard, like the horse, for something to eat and some place to sleep. I do not expect to be petted or fed lumps of sugar, but I would like a kind word now and then. However, I wouldn't insist on the kind word."

MAN KIDNAPPED ON WEDDING EVE

E. A. Rice Carried to Rendezvous on Mormon Cut-off Road by Party of Bold Bandits

SEARCH TOWN FOR MANY HOURS

Then He Re-appears and
Conspirators Are Forgiven by Pair of Newly-weds

Kidnaped five minutes after he had been married and lugged off by a party of men to a rendezvous on the Mormon Cut-off road was the unique experience last night of E. A. Rice, one of the proprietors of the "Wax-Over Shoe Co."

Mr. Rice was married to Miss Laura O'Rourke, a popular La Crosse girl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Stanley Oadams at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage on South Eighth street. Sadie O'Rourke was the bridesmaid while Roy Sorenson was the best man.

The newlyweds and their assistants left the parsonage and at the door were showered with rice. In the confusion which followed, Rice's arms were pinioned behind his back, a gag plunged into his mouth and he felt himself whirled away in a high powered auto.

Discovers Loss

"Where's my husband?" shrieked the bride, the first to discover his disappearance.

"There he goes in that auto," someone yelled, pointing to a car just whirling around the corner of Eighth and Cass streets.

"Save him, save him!" begged his new wife, and immediately C. H. Woodruff, of the La Crosse Plow company, one of the guests, was in his auto.

He touched the self starter—she didn't start. He cranked—she didn't start. He cranked again and said something—still it wouldn't start. A cursory examination showed the batteries to be gone.

Borrowing a bicycle, someone "dashed" downtown, procured a new set of batteries and returned. The auto was placed in service and the bride with her bridesmaid and the best man, toured the city—to the tune of cowbells—searching for the missing bridegroom.

A Mysterious Party

Act 2—Place, John Stephan's. Time, 10 o'clock.

The scene opens in the famous dining room at Stephan's, a popular resort patronized by the city's elite. About a table, groaning under the good things that make up a "stag" dinner are seated five young men. A sixth is standing, a glass of rare wine in his hand and toasting, "my wife."

"Ye Gods! It's the missing groom!"

(To make this good for the "movies" a few feet of film should be inserted here, portraying the hysterical bride and others continuing the chase about town.)

Act 3—Scene 1, takes place in the home of the bride on Pine street. Great grief and much excitement—she has just received a telegram signed by her new husband telling that he was "forced" to keep an engagement at a stag party. The toast: A stag party on the wedding night!

All is Forgiven

Scene 2, is the front porch of the bride's home. An auto draws up miled with laughing young men. The groom extricates himself from the crowd and "dashes" up the steps to his wife. A few minutes are spent in explanation. A smile of forgiveness overpreads her face and he "folds her in his arms."

Curtain

Note:—The kidnapers were Grover Glass, Harvey Cole, Rudolph Schwanzel, Robert Andrews and P. E. Wenzel. They will not be prosecuted by Mr. and Mrs. Rice who will reside at 122 North Seventh street.

THREE FIREMEN HURT

BRIDAL PAIR GET AWAY UNPURSUED

Mr. and Mrs. Sayre Leave White House by Side Passage and Flit on Secret Honeymoon

BRIDE DEMANDS WORD "OBEY"

Requests Rev. S. W. Beach to Put Pledge Into Presbyterian Service Used

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—An army of workmen who carried away the wealth of flowers and decorations in the great east room was the reminder today of the thirteenth White House wedding—that and the gleeful remembrance by intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom of how the young couple fooled everybody in slipping away on their wedding trip.

Only half a dozen people know where Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre are sending their honeymoon—and they won't tell. The most logical rumor was that the two motored to Baltimore. Whether they took a train there, or are remaining in seclusion at the country home of one of their friends was not certain.

Bride Urges "Obey"

It became known that Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, the officiating minister, included the word "obey" in the wedding ceremony at Miss Wilson's request. He used the form of service sanctioned in the book of common worship of the Presbyterian church which does not contain the pledge of obedience, but shortly before the ceremony was asked to insert it in the vow which made Miss Wilson Mrs. Sayre.

Practically every official in Washington and those who did not receive invitations to the wedding received announcements from the White House in their morning's mail today. Like the invitations, they were in engraved script. They were worded as follows:

"The President and Mrs. Wilson have the pleasure of announcing the marriage of their daughter, Jessie Woodrow, to Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre on Tuesday, November, Twenty-fifth, Nineteen Hundred and Thirteen, at Washington."

Elude Pursuit

All Washington was laughing today at the way in which the bride and bridegroom eluded all pursuit as they left the White House. A saddened lot of newspapermen and photographers were figuring up their taxicab bills for the experience of sitting outside the White House from four until nearly midnight, waiting for the bridal couple they never even saw. They would probably be there yet, if some kind hearted policeman had not taken pity and informed them at eight o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, in the automobile of Secretary to the President Tumulty, had quietly departed. The couple had walked over to the executive offices through a private passageway, unostentatiously climbed into the automobile which was standing on a nearby street, and were whirled away without a soul knowing anything about it.

SENIOR COLONEL ILL

His condition is serious. The colonel was taken ill at Galveston, Texas, several weeks ago. He has been in command of the Seventh infantry since 1903.

IDENTIFY GIRL WHO DIED UNDER KNIFE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 26.—Anna Olson, whose identity has puzzled police and coroner's officials since she died Sunday on the operating table in the office of Dr. Chas. H. Hunter, was positively identified today at Naimi Picku, of Lake Douglas, Minn. It has been learned the girl left her home last summer to go to Yellowstone Park, Mont., and probably was on her way home when she stopped at Minneapolis. The coroner's office is still conducting an investigation into the death.

TURKEY PLENTIFUL AND NOT EXPENSIVE

National Bird Within the Reach of Average

Year

SPECIAL FESTIVITIES OF THE DAY

Churches and Clubs Will Observe Day of Thanks for Harvest

Two hundred and ninety years after the first Thanksgiving day celebration by the Pilgrim Fathers of New England, the citizens of La Crosse are preparing to observe the day that has been set aside by the President's proclamation as the day of the year on which the people of the United States give thanks for the blessings of harvest.

Due to one of the most prosperous years on record in this locality, turkeys, the favorite American bird, will not be out of reach of average sized pocketbooks this year. Retail merchants are quoting the birds at 22 cents per pound, or possibly a little more.

During the past week scores of loads of turkeys, geese and the more common but none the less despised chickens have been sold on the market square by the farmers driving in from rural localities. As for vegetables and products of the farm, from the least to the greatest, the season could not be better.

The weather man, not to be complained of during the past year, is not coming across with the usual looked for cold snap which adds a zest to things at this season, but has compromised with the situation, and says there may be clear skies.

Little Johnny, his sister and his big brother as usual are laying plans for the day. Schools are being dismissed a few minutes earlier today than usual, and the scholars, as a unit are secretly fasting for the big time that they know their mothers are preparing for them tomorrow.

La Crosse retail grocers and meat men will close their shops tomorrow, so those who contemplate taking part in the big event of the day will be compelled to do their shopping not later than tonight.

City, county and federal offices will be closed during the day. The banks and most of the retail business concerns will give their employees holidays.

Hotels of the city are planning to serve special dinners for patrons who are unable to be at home on this day, and holiday functions are being planned by local clubs and societies.

A reception, celebrating its eleventh anniversary will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Lutheran hospital, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Members of the faculty and board will be in the receiving line.

Many churches have planned special Thanksgiving services, as the fitting way to commence the activities of the holiday. In many instances special musical programs will be given. While Thanksgiving day is not a holiday in the Roman Catholic church, high mass will be said in several of the churches here.

Normal School Vacation

President Cotton of the normal school has granted his students a vacation, starting today at noon, and continuing until Tuesday morning of next week. This plan enables out of town students to reach their homes in time for Thanksgiving dinners, and also will give them sufficient time to return to school duties.

As usual on this day, one of the foremost thought of the boys and girls advanced in their teens is the game of football which officially ends the season. Many are bemoaning the fact that there will be no more football here this year.

The high school team leaves early tomorrow morning for Sparta with high hopes in their breasts of bringing back their colors victorious. The local boys are not playing in the brilliant form of other years, although there is a possibility of La Crosse taking the honors.

Superintendent D. C. Dewey is preparing to serve a dinner at the La Crosse Crosse tomorrow and has invited all homeless men in the city, and those who through one means or another cannot supply themselves with the edibles which go to make the day one of the brightest of the year, to join with them.

He and a committee of church and mission workers are planning to feed in the neighborhood of seventy-five children, and to this number will be added numbers of parents and men in the city without homes or means. Numbers of baskets have been prepared by him and the Associated Charities each filled with a turkey and the necessary things to make up a first class dinner. These will be distributed either tonight or tomorrow morning among the poor families of the city in time for them to be prepared at the noon hour.

It is the plan that when the city sits down to a table of plentifulness tomorrow, it will be with the thought that not a soul exists in the city who is not supplied.

LEAVES SENILE DUKE BECAUSE FORCED TO PLAY HORSE AND POSE

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Because she objected to being compelled to "play horse," disliked being turned into a "statue" or playing "Little Bo-Peep" to suit the whims and fancies of her aged husband, are among the reasons why the Grand Duchess Antonia left Grand Duke Ludwig of Bavaria. As a result of the divorce recently granted the Duke because his wife, refused to return to him, disclosures are printed of some of his "peculiarities." The duke is 75 and married a 21 year old actress and dancer. Two years ago his wife left him.

The Grand Duke, it is stated, was fond of making his wife "play horse" in the palace grounds. He compelled her to put on a tight fitting, single piece garment, get down on all fours and hop about the lawns. The senile duke also was fond of statues and especially so of "living pictures," his young wife declared. According to her story the duke compelled her to doff her clothing and stand for long periods on a pedestal, posing as Psyche or Venus, and other mythical personages who never did break any records for wearing clothes. Another time, the aged duke carpeted a room in his palace with fly paper and compelled his wife to walk over it barefooted.

DEVOTEE CHASED BY MOB AND COPS

Man Who Went to Church for Prayer Emerges to Flee Before Shooting Policeman

ROBBERY REPORTED TO POLICE

Call Sends Patrolman in Hurry and the Crowd Frightens Man Into Flight

Picturing in his mind what mobs had done to innocent persons when enraged, James Flynn, 46, a Minnesota farmer spending a few days on the north side, commenced to run late yesterday afternoon when he came out of St. John Catholic church, corner Avon and St. James streets and saw a mob of men, women and children who pointed at him as if he had done something wrong.

Central police station received a hurry call about 4:30, stating that a man was trying to rob the St. James church. The man would give no name, other than to say that he lived within a few doors of the building and had seen the man prowling around inside the church.

Fearing Another Theft

Fearing a repetition of the theft of several months ago, when several pieces of silver were stolen from the church, central station notified Patrolman Frank Groeschner.

Groeschner immediately went to the church. When he arrived, a part of the crowd, which had enlarged by that time, was still standing in front of the church, and the rest had followed the man.

In the dim light of the late afternoon, he saw the man's form about a block away, and pursued. At this point he was joined by another patrolman.

Reaching the man, Groeschner grabbed him by the collar of the coat, and commanded him to stop. As he held tight to the collar, Flynn twisted out of the coat and fled countless down the street. When the patrolmen gave chase, the mob followed.

Thinking that the man would stop, Groeschner fired several revolver shots into the ground, but that only seemed to put ginger into his strides and he flew.

After several blocks, Flynn finally tired and Groeschner took him in charge and escorted him to the police station.

At Church to Pray

When safely lodged at No. 2 police station, the patrolman closely questioned Flynn. They discovered that he had been calling on Rev. Kloecker with the idea of attending confession at the church today, and had gone into the church building for prayer.

Flynn was released this morning.

FIGHT ON PINDELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Opposition to the nomination of Henry M. Pindell, Peoria, Ill., editor and principal in the "Pindell letter forgery" episode, to be ambassador to Russia, was openly launched today when the senate foreign relations committee met to begin consideration of Pindell's appointment and other diplomatic nominations of the president. Senator Burton of Ohio insisted he would air the letter controversy to get at the exact facts.

DONALDSON GIFT STIRS HIS SCHOOLS

During the Thanksgiving program of the Hogan school at 1:30 today a Victor No. 5, the gift of the late Prof. N. S. Donaldson, for many years principal of the Lincoln and Hogan schools, to the pupils of both schools, was presented by Prof. D. S. Shephardson, successor to Prof. Donaldson. At 3 o'clock the Victor was presented to the pupils of the Lincoln school by Prof. Shephardson. There was a large attendance at both schools, and the ceremony stirred loyal recollections of one of the best beloved of La Crosse schoolmasters.

FEDERALS ROUTED IN BLOODY BATTLE

Villa Sends the Combined Huerta Forces Fleeing South After Two Days' Fight

CASUALTIES ALLEGED ENORMOUS

Declared Engagement Was Most Sanguinary Since U. S. Invasion in 1848

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 26.—Bringing with him as trophies of war federal artillery captured in the 38 hour battle below Juarez, General Francisco Villa, leader of the victorious rebel forces, returned to Juarez at noon today. The fact that all Juarez is busy caring for the hundreds of wounded brought in since termination of the great battle, prevented Villa from receiving a big welcome. He was visibly pleased with his victory and paid high tribute to his soldiers when asked by the United Press representative for a statement.

"There is nothing I can say, senator, that would make matters better," said he. "What my valiant soldiers did, that speaks loudly and convincingly. They fought for a just cause and triumphed."

"The death of Madero has been avenged and soon our wounded country will be under a constitutional government, just as our great martyr, Madero, would wish it."

"You can tell your country that I will always protect Americans whether they be in your own country or whether they be elsewhere."

After thirty hours of fighting below Juarez 3,500 federal troops, the combined forces of Generals Salazar, Orozco, Caraveo, Rojas and Manilla, are fleeing southward today in a complete rout. The casualties on both sides are said to have been enormous, but it has been impossible to get an accurate estimate of them.

Ended Late Tuesday

The end of the battle came late Tuesday afternoon. During the day the federals had been hard pressed at Tierra Blanca, on the south, where their main body was located, and at Zaragoza on the east, where General Salazar's force narrowly escaped annihilation. Shortly before noon the enemy attempted to turn Villa's right flank at Bauche and by 1 o'clock a large part of the main federal body had been rushed to that point.

The fighting was desperate there for two hours, as it was evidently the last hope of the federalists. General Villa threw a portion of his own personal force into the fight and by 4 p. m. the federalists had been repulsed all along the line. The blow administered to them was decisive and their flight was so precipitate and disorderly that they abandoned all of their twenty big guns which had done deadly execution during the battle.

The announcement of the victory came in the following dispatch from Villa to his subordinates at Juarez: "Villa's Dispatch"

"I have the satisfaction of announcing to you that my forces have routed the federalists. Besides defeating the enemy, my forces have captured all of their artillery and three of their trains. The federal forces are now in a disgraceful retreat to the south."

Apparently the rebels are not pursuing the captured trains. Villa is said to have taken a large quantity of ammunition and supplies.

Juarez was quiet today. There was no disorder, although the citizens were preparing to welcome Villa back as a hero.

Wounded officers brought to Juarez from the front confirm reports received late yesterday that Villa has been executing federal prisoners of war by the wholesale. Some of these say that eighty federal officers were ordered shot on the battlefield and that the orders were summarily carried out. It is not known whether this number is exaggerated.

WARM DEBATE FOLLOWS TALK

While Personal Criticism of Leading Address was Reserved Many Women
Left Auditorium

During a meeting of the Teachers' and Parents' association of the state normal school Monday night, Dr. Carl Sputh delivered an address on "Sex Hygiene" in which his departure from the diffident language of public lecturers upon that subject created considerable resentment, several of the ladies present leaving the auditorium in the midst of his talk.

Today Dr. Sputh's address is the leading subject of conversation, and that a majority of his hearers regard his remarks as not only indelicate, but as constituting an absolute impropriety, is certain.

"That unnecessarily daring treatment of a subject which centuries of civilization have cloaked in modesty and mystery will put the cause of the teaching of sex hygiene back five years in La Crosse," was the emphatic language of one auditor, who declines to permit his name to be known.

One of the mothers, who was present with a group of ladies, said that had it not been for fear of attracting attention to themselves, not a woman in their party would have remained to hear the speech, and that in her opinion there was not a woman in the hall who would not have left but for the fear of making herself more conspicuous by leaving than by staying.

Criticism of Dr. Sputh's address is based upon the fact that as a foundation for remarks upon the policy of sex hygiene information, the speaker indulged in a deliberate scientific description involving all the terms that custom has tabooed in polite society, employing the language of the medical college classroom as freely as though he were addressing, not a mixed audience in which were a number of young and tender people, but a male class in a school of medicine.

Dr. Sputh's address was followed by a general discussion in which there was spirited opposition to the teaching of this subject in the schools, while equally warm defense of the proposition was heard, but there was no criticism during the meeting of the principal address.

The nearest approach to a rebuke was a good tempered talk by one of the lady teachers, in which she urged that the topic should not be treated as a "horror," that the essential lesson could be taught by the mating of the flowers, and by bringing the child's mind from this lesson gradually up to the sweet secret of creation as it applies to human beings.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

GRAY EYES

By HARMONY-WELLER
Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Haldane was the speaker among a more or less interested crowd of late hotel guests. They were sitting in the dark of the wide veranda and for the most part were exchanging idle opinions that would perhaps float in one ear and out the other.

A slim little figure in a pink gown of soft clinging material stood for a moment at the edge of the circle as if she faintly would penetrate the darkness and find a familiar face. She finally slipped along and sat down beside Emily Banker.

"No, sir," continued Haldane, pursuing his subject, "there is only one type of girl I never could feel attracted to."

"Then there really is one?" questioned a railing voice.

"And what affliction has this odd girl?" asked Emily Banker, "this one who has not and never could affect the beatings of your fickle heart?"

"One who possesses gray eyes," Haldane admitted. "Gray-eyed girls are, without exception, cold, calculating and without a sense of romance or emotion."

"Rather tough on gray eyes," commented some one.

"And last, but not least," added Haldane, laughing, "I was jilted most heartlessly by a gray-eyed damsel."

"So! That is where the shoe pinches," Miss Banker put in. "By the way, Hal, you and Violet Gray have not met. Let me introduce you. Miss Gray, Mr. Haldane."

In the darkness Violet held out a slim little hand and Haldane grasped it. A soft laugh accompanied the girl's movement. Haldane wondered at it; also he marveled at the sudden thrill that swept up his arm. He was reluctant to let go the cool fingers he had grasped there in the darkness of the veranda.

"I sincerely hope your eyes are not gray," he remarked quickly. "Had I known there was a stranger in the crowd I would not have aired my opinions so blatantly." He tried to fathom the darkness between himself and the girl, but all he could see was a blur of pink gown and the contour of delicate features. The eyes were a pair of glowing stars.

"It would not offend me, even so," Violet said in her musical, untrilled voice. "Tastes must differ. I know many persons who would climb that mountain opposite for just one glance from a pair of gray eyes!"

"Speaking of mountains," said Emily, "it is time we were all seeking our undowny couches if we are to climb that mountain tomorrow. You are coming, Vi, aren't you?"

Haldane was conscious of waiting impatiently for the girl in pink to reply.

"I am sorry, dear," she said. "I have promised Dickey to go fishing with him."

"Bring Dick along," urged some one.

"Impossible," laughed Violet. "He would consider that I had deserted him. However, if we catch enough trout we will keep the catch and at night we can all meet on the beach and roast the fish."

"Luck go with you!" Brook trout to reply.

"I am sorry, dear," she said. "I have promised Dickey to go fishing with him."

"Bring Dick along," urged some one.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism That Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S. and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

HAD CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Peruna Relieved a Serious Case.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd, Box 31, West Burlington, Iowa, writes:

"I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestine for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief, and finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me."

"I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was offensive and I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse."

"Finally I concluded to try Peruna, and I found relief and a cure for that dreadful disease, catarrh. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle of it in my house all the time."

It is a remarkable story that Mr. Ikerd tells, it is a true story, but very briefly told. If he put into his story all of the details it would make a chapter of suspense and agony, hope and final recovery, equal to the wildest fiction. Any one wishing to do so can write Mr. Ikerd and ascertain whether there has been any exaggeration in his case.

The "Ills of Life" will be sent free by addressing the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Before Violet could speak, however, Haldane added: "Then you are engaged to me for tomorrow night, and as many other nights as you will give me?"

The girl laughed quickly to hide a swift little intake of breath. For no reason that Haldane could fathom her voice was a trifle wistful when she answered:

"You may have every dark night until I leave for home. Dick has all the days."

"Dick has more time than I have," retorted Haldane impatiently.

"He has known me longer," Violet told him. "Besides, it is quite romantic to know someone only by shadow light. You may not even want to look at me in the glare of the sun."

"By star light and by candle light she comes to me," said Haldane.

"She also comes by dreamlight—in that song," put in Violet. "So you are to woo me by night and Dicky is to do his courting by day," she laughed mockingly at him and slipped off before he could stop her.

The mockery was gone from her eyes as Violet reached her room and switched on the electric light over her dressing table. She looked long and earnestly into the mirror.

"Yes," she told herself, with a doleful shake of the head, "my eyes are gray—deep, unchangeable, unmistakably gray." An unhappy little smile flitted across her wonderful eyes and the lashes drooped. A blush, half defiant and wholly beautiful, lingered in her cheeks.

"I don't care," she decided. "He is falling in love with me as surely as—yes, as surely as I am finding him the most lovable man in the world. He shall not see the color of my eyes until I have refused him once, or even twice."

For three weeks, then, Violet lured Haldane into a great and wonderful love dream. She gave him freely of the bounty of her charm and drew him along with her on the high road to romance. It was more than difficult to escape his eyes during the days, but so cleverly did she maneuver that not once had Haldane gazed into her eyes in any save candle or star light.

The third time he told her he loved her was on the day that he had climbed the great mountain because he had heard that she had gone up there to sketch.

"I will not take no," he told her suddenly, and put his arms firmly about her. "I will not take no for an answer. You must marry me dear—I cannot live without you and your dear love beside me." He looked down into the depth of her eyes. "You are frightened dear—what is it?"

"My eyes! They are gray! Unromantic, cold, unsympathetic gray!" she cried swiftly, and the fear was lost sight of in wonderment.

A slow smile dawned in Haldane's eyes. "There was never a more beautiful pair in all the world," he said softly. "Dear gray eyes!"

Daddy's Bedtime

The Mermaid's
Story—Dinner Party
For the Fishes.

She Sent Out the Invitations.

ONCE upon a time," began daddy, and Jack and Evelyn looked very happy, for daddy's best stories always began with "once upon a time." "There was a beautiful mermaid who lived way down in the bottom of the sea. She wasn't lonely, for she played with all the little fishes who live down in the sea, and she had a lovely private park of her own with the most wonderful shells and plants growing in it. In this park she used to give fine dinners. One day she had been hearing from a crab who had almost been caught in a trap that the people living up on the earth often had 'fish dinners.' The mermaid cried for days and dried her eyes with her long hair, and then she'd cry again as she would think of the cruel earth people. She decided one evening she would give a dinner, so she sent her messenger, the tortoise, out with invitations written on moss with sea blue ink. Of course all the fish came to the dinner. There were the Crab family, the Oyster family, the Turtle family, the Lobster family, the Trout family and the Salmon family and ever so many more. The mermaid had a novel menu, for people as her best method in comforting the families who had lost their little fish because the people had caught them for their parties. They had 'Jones broth,' 'Johnston fish,' 'Whitman meat,' 'Brown potatoes,' 'Green salad' and 'White ice cream.' The little fishes clapped their fins together and said, 'Oh, dear mermaid, you are so good and your parties are such fun and different from all other parties!' Just at that moment a crab who had been expected earlier came rushing in and cried: 'Oh, mermaid, I am dreadfully sorry to be late, but I was listening to the most delightful talk I ever heard! Two men were rowing above me and trying to catch fish. One of them said he had been fishing all day and hadn't had a bite. The other replied that he thought it was useless to fish in that part of the water any more, for it had risen so during the past few days.'

"Whereupon the mermaid and the little fishes realized it was the mermaid's tears that had made the water so high, and then they all wept some more for joy and to add to the water.

"All the people who went out to fish there could not catch any fish and went home wondering what could be the matter with the water. They tried very hard to find out what had happened to make it so high, but they could not do so, for they couldn't have understood what the fishes said if they had not one, and you may be very sure that the clever little fishes kept out of their way."

"How silly of a fish to cry!" said Jack.

A GENTLE VOICE FROM BEYOND

The assertion that "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones," fails utterly when the tomb emits no "doleful sound," when no word of evil comes to plague the reputation of the departed. Doubtless does the axiom fail where good, obscured during life by the influence of a modest personality, comes ever to the ears of the multitude as clear and insistent as "the still, small voice."

We know of no better refutation of Shakespeare's pessimistic utterance than is afforded by the case of the late Prof. N. S. Donaldson, and we seize the opportunity afforded by a pretty incident which took place today in the schools of which he was so long principal—the Lincoln school and the Hogan branch—to pay to this man a tribute in which we know the school officials, the teachers, the children, and as many of the people of La Crosse as enjoyed his acquaintance or knowledge of his life will join.

Professor Donaldson was as modest as he was kind and thoughtful, and looking upon his profession as one imposing a solemn obligation upon him, he combined a sense of duty with love of his work among the young people of the city. His memory is cherished by all who became intimate with him, and from those associated with him in a professional way we have the assurance that few had so keen an understanding of children, few have so fully sympathized with them, few indeed have given themselves so unreservedly not only to their academic education, but to the work of giving them lofty inspiration and right impulses. That labor so noble does not pass unappreciated was demonstrated today when the young people of his charge, the Lincoln and Hogan schools, were presented with a Victor which, as the shadows gathered, he caused to be provided for their entertainment. Even as the Infinite Valley opened before him, this fatherly soul could not forget his children, and if affectionate remembrance can add to the reward of the "good and faithful servant," the tender emotions stirred by today's little incident have paid a profound obligation.

SEX HYGIENE A DELICATE TOPIC

While there is no more legitimate topic for discussion than sex hygiene, there has been created here a strong feeling that sex physiology, baldly handled, is not a co-educational subject. Nothing calls for more delicate treatment, and if the gentle philosophy for which many citizens thank one of the women participants in a recent debate were made the basis of our dealings with the question, that which delicacy of language makes a "horror" might indeed become "the most beautiful thing in the world." The technical language of the medical classroom is neither essential nor proper in addressing a mixed audience, and a valuable policy may be destroyed by indulgence in injudicious phraseology. An operation for appendicitis usually is a good thing, but if it is so performed as to inflict unnecessary shock it may be fatal.

Just for England's attitude on the Mexican question we shall refuse to be sorry the next time a flying wedge of suffragists connects with a member of the British ministry.

A chorus of ex-chorus girls has been engaged to do evangelistic singing in a Chicago rescue mission. But if these girls have reformed, why don't they stop singing?

Vice President Marshall should take the summer lecture platform next year. It would not only afford him some excuse but more pay.

Probably the port officials at New York are much obliged to airmen for being easier to tell on sight than moral turpitude.

Life is worth living once again: The good old buckwheat cake is in our midst, the same old kind That mother used to make. The gravy's warm in the pan, The good old-fashioned way; From dad down to the hired man, We're ready for the fray.

It only takes about fifteen To set a feller right With all the world and make him feel Just simply out of sight. They always bring dyspepsia on, But still it's no so bad, Providing that you stop and think Of all the fun you had.

An Expert at Pinching

The teacher of a large school in Newcastle sent one of her scholars to buy a pound of plums from a fruit vender outside, and as she handed the little girl sixpence, said: "Be sure, Mary, before buying the plums, to pinch or two, just to see that they are ripe."

In a little while the girl returned with flushed face and a triumphant look in her eyes. Handing the teacher the bag of plums, she placed the sixpence on the desk and exclaimed: "I pinched one or two, as you told me, and when the man wasn't looking I pinched a bagful."

Didn't See it Strike

A Yankee attorney was addressing a jury on behalf of a prisoner. "Gentlemen," he said, "witnesses have sworn that they saw the accused fire his gun; they have sworn they saw the flash and heard the report; they have sworn they saw Pete Jackson flat; they have sworn that this bullet was extracted from Pete Jackson's body; but, gentlemen, in the name of justice, I ask you, where is the evidence that the bullet hit Pete Jackson?"

CRUST ON HEAD ITCHED AND BURNED

So Would Wake Up Nights and Cry. Head Bare in Spots. Cured Entirely in Six Weeks by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

Rockford, Ia.—"My little girl had a hard crust on her head. Her head had a rash on it and it itched and burned so she would wake up nights and cry. Then it turned into sores and then it turned into a dry crust, and when I combed her hair great lumps would come out. Her head was bare of hair in spots.

"Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they cured her entirely in six weeks and her hair came in lovely. At that time she was about ten years old and now she is twenty-six and has never had any more trouble." (Signed) Mrs. H. J. Wade, Dec. 14, 1912.

PAINFUL ITCHING AND BURNING

269 Jackson St., Milwaukee, Wis.—"My trouble began with small speckles on my chest, arms and legs. Later it took the form of little blisters which caused painful itching and burning. In the day I was tormented by the clothing which irritated the eruption and in the night I lost rest from the itching. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment finding relief in the first day of treatment. In one week I was well." (Signed) Joseph Cassone, Nov. 30, 1912.

Your suffering will stop at once like magic.

I Am Free—You Can Be Free

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

RISK JUST ONE CENT

Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card. Say: "Dear Sam Katz: Please tell me how you cured your catarrh and how I can cure mine." That's all you need to say. I will understand, and I will write to you with complete information, FREE, at once. Do not delay. Send postal card or write me a letter today. Don't think of turning this page until you have asked for this wonderful treatment that can do for you what it has done for me.

KILLED IN NEW PLANE

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Aviator Perre-ron fell 100 feet here today and was instantly killed. He was trying out a new monoplane.

The Name "Gas."

Who first used the word "gas," and why? Merely because of the supposed resemblance of the product of burning carbon to the "chaos" of the Greeks. "This spirit, hitherto unknown," wrote the experimenter Van Helmont in 1648. "I call by the name of gas, and I call it so because, being untamable, it is scarcely distinguishable from the chaos of the ancients." A glimpse at modern gas devices will show how far removed from untamability is the gas of today.

The Marshal

By Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews Author of The Perfect Tribute, etc. Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

In the silence, the Prince's watch could be heard ticking. Francois shivered violently. "Ugh!" he said, his teeth chattering. "It gives me a crise de neris, that trick of vision-seeing. I do not like it, and yet at times it seizes me. Why should it come to a man happy as I am—a man who has dared ask three enormous wishes of the good fairies: who holds one of them in his hand?"—he lifted the letter—"who sees another in easy reach, and who," he smiled brilliantly, "who will be well content without the third, my Prince, the first two being his." He shivered again. "Is the night raw. It is as if I were in a grave, this coldness," he said, looking about with a disturbed gaze, "yet my life is just beginning."

The Prince rose and tossed his cigar to the fire-place. "It is simply that you are tired, Francois," he said in the tranquil tones which no peril disturbed. "The nerves of us all are stretched and yours are the finest strung. Go to bed, and at daylight you will be warm enough with the work that awaits us. Sleep well—good night, my friend."

Later, in the darkness of his chamber, Prince Louis lay awake, his imagination filled with the man whose dramatic personality appealed to him as few had ever done. He thought of his own life, according to his lights not a bad life, radically strong and radically gentle, yet complicated, abnormal from its start, with many shadows and many stains; then of the crystal clearness of this other's, with his three wishes in which he trusted as simply as a child would trust to the fairies. A smile almost tender stole across the mask-like features in the dark. "There is no doubt but the girl will marry the marquis," he reflected. "Yet I am glad I left him his hope and his happiness." A vision of Francois' beatified look rose before him.

"A man fights better so," the Prince murmured aloud, and his own sadness forgotten in another man's joy, he fell asleep.

CHAPTER XXXIX. The Bugle-Call.

The gray dawn of a Sunday morning began to break over the sleeping city of Boulogne, yet earlier than the dawn anxious eyes opened to watch, and men's hearts beat fast to meet it. Scattered in lodging-houses and barracks Louis Napoleon's followers were waiting before daylight for the part they had to play. No man among them was as quiet as little nervous as the Prince, yet his as well as every gallant heart of them felt a throb of relief with its bound of excitement when a trumpet from the Austerlitz barracks, the barracks of the fourth artillery, Napoleon's own regiment, suddenly sounded.

It was the signal, and in a moment the Prince and his escort were moving down the dark street toward Colonel Vaudrey's quarters, toward that ringing note not yet died out from the quivering air. One could see a little bustle through the drowsy place—a head out of a window here an' there, blinking puzzled eyes to see what the unusual summons, the early trumpet note might mean. But a handful of men in uniform was no sensation in the garrison town and the good citizens went back to their morning naps.

The city was tranquil when Prince Louis reached the barracks, and the soldier-blood in him rushed in a tide when he saw sixty mounted artillerymen posted at the entrance, and beyond, in the yard, statue-like, warlike, silent, the regiment formed in square. If the fourth artillery followed its colonel, if the day went well, this was the core of his army. Colonel Vaudrey was in the center of the square; the Prince marched quietly to him and as he came, with a sharp simultaneous clatter that was the music of Heaven to his ears, the whole regiment presented arms.

In the glowing light the soldiers who fronted toward him could see that the colorless face turned gray, but that was all, and quickly Colonel Vaudrey spoke to his men. "Soldiers of the fourth artillery," he said loudly, "a revolution begins today under the nephew of the Emperor Napoleon. He is before you, and comes to lead you. He has returned to his land to give back the people their rights, the army its greatness. He trusts in your courage, your devotion to accomplish this glorious mission. My soldiers, your colonel has answered for you. Shout then with me 'Long live Napoleon! Long live the Emperor!'"

The terse soldierly words were hardly finished when the regiment, strongly Bonapartist always, carried off its feet now by the sight of the Prince, by the honor of being the first to whom he came, caught up the cry, and the deep voices sent it rolling down the empty streets. Louis Bonaparte standing erect, motionless, impassive as always, wondered if a pulse might beat harder than his and not break. He held up his hand, and rapidly, yet with lingering shouts of enthusiasm, the tumult quieted. The regiment to its farthest man heard every word of the strong tones.

"Soldiers," he said, "I have come to you first because between you and me there are great memories. With you the Emperor, my uncle, served as captain with you he won glory at the siege of Toulon; you opened the gates of Grenoble to him when he came back from Elba. Soldiers, the honor of beginning a new empire shall be yours; yours shall be the honor of saluting first the eagle of Austerlitz and Wagram." He caught the standard from an of-

ADMITS POSTAL ROBBERY

MARINETTE, Wis., Nov. 26.—Frankly admitting that she took about $8 worth of stamps from the postoffice at Kremlin, Wis., Mrs. Florence Gamble, arrested a year ago at Des Moines, Ia., as the "champion heart breaker of Iowa," in connection with the operation of her matrimonial agency there, is held here today pending preliminary arraignment before United States Commissioner Miller. A warrant has been issued for George Williams, postmaster at Kremlin, and he will be arraigned at the same time. Williams is charged with being short in his accounts.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

The Bible. The Bible contains 3,568,480 letters, 733,748 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books.

Guinivere: Yes, you can overcome

the results of the careless treatment of your hair which has commenced to destroy its natural beauty and cause it to grow dull, "stringy," brittle and fall out. I would just shampoo occasionally by using a teaspoonful canthrox dissolved in a cup hot water. This greatly invigorates the scalp tissues and hair roots and produces a healthy condition in both, insuring a beautiful growth of even-colored, lustrous, fluffy hair. I have found canthrox shampoo is extremely soothing to tender, itchy scalps and allows the hair to dry very quickly.

A. L.: The delatone treatment for hairy growths is quite harmless and rarely is more than one application required. Mix a little powdered delatone with water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then after two or three minutes rub it off, and the hairs come with it. Washing the skin leaves it firm and free from blemish.

Darling: Yes, it is true that fat

always destroys the beautiful lines of the figure, but if you do as I have before advised in these columns, you can get rid of the fat and your form will be plump and beautifully proportioned. In one and one-half pints hot water dissolve four ounces parotals. Let this cool, then take one tablespoonful before each meal. This treatment produces no present or future ill effects and gradually dissolves the unnecessary fatty tissues. Try this parotals treatment and you will never have any reason to feel embarrassed because of your shape.

Pearl: You girls were right when you decided that face powder clogs the pores, even though much is blown off the skin and leaves a spotted effect. You can avoid this annoyance and enjoy a softer, healthier, finer complexion if you apply a spurmaz lotion. This is quite inexpensive and is prepared by dissolving four ounces spurmaz in one-half pint witch hazel or hot water, to which is added two teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spurmaz lotion is invisible when on and requires no further attention. You will find it especially nice to banish summer's freckles and tan and the sallow, unhealthy cast of powdered skin and to give a delightful freshness and youth-tint to your skin.

Johanna: Yes, you have a good reason to feel alarmed about your hair. But you can remove the dandruff and overcome that dryness with-

Lucy: You want to brighten and strengthen your eyes and can easily do so by using this plain crystals eye tonic in which I have great faith because of the good it has done in so many instances, and I am sure if you put two or three drops of it in your sore, aching eye at frequent intervals for a time, the inflammation will disappear. To prepare this inexpensive tonic, dissolve one ounce crystals in a pint of clear water. To dull, lifeless eyes it will lend a youthful sparkle and fascinating expression.

Olive: Yes, I know a sure cure for wrinkles which can be cheaply made at home. I mix one ounce almozoin with one-half pint cold water and two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand for one day. To remove or prevent wrinkles, apply this vegetable cream-jelly thickly and massage thoroughly. At night leave the face covered with the cream. You will find nothing to equal almozoin jelly-cream to remove wrinkles and keep them away, and it contains no oil or fat which might promote hair growth. You will also notice by its use not only your wrinkles disappearing, but the large pores of the entire face getting much smaller and the skin very soft and velvety.

Dora: For your pimples and tired-

ness I am giving the formula for the best blood cleanser I know. It is the best because it acts on the liver and kidneys and if, as you say, you are troubled with severe and constant headaches, it is an indication that your kidneys and blood need attention. To prepare, put one ounce Kardene into one-half pint alcohol (whisky should not be used), then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before meals is the dose. This Kardene tonic gently expels poisonous waste from the body and tones up the internal organs so they can do their work well.

Would Bar the Speeches.
A member of parliament enlivened a political club luncheon by telling the story of a certain famous politician who attended a banquet at which it was expected important speeches would be made. A dish of whitebait was set before him and, after looking at the fish and then at the other guests he remarked: "Gentlemen, let us follow the example of these little fish—drink a good deal, and say nothing!"

FOUR KILLED BY AUTO COLLISION

Speeding Cars Crash Head-on Shortly After Midnight in New York Park

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Four persons are dead and a fifth, a young woman, is dying today as a result of a head-on collision between two automobiles going between 50 and 60 miles an hour along Pedham parkway. The accident occurred shortly after midnight and persons in a dozen other machines saw the two speeding cars come together.

One of the women victims of the accident was identified today as Mrs. Conrad Loos, 308 West Ninety-third street, wife of a "night worker." The other woman was identified as Helen Schaeffer, a manicurist.

Two young women in the car of Leonard Cohn, who were killed, had not been identified early today. Cohn also lost his life. Thomas F. Denny, assemblyman from the nineteenth district, also in the Cohn car, was thrown out and killed.

The Cohn machine crashed into the car of W. L. Morris, a lawyer. Morris and three others in the machine, were thrown out and seriously injured.

Richard Rogers, chauffeur of the Cohn car, was the only one in that machine to escape death. He was pinned against the steering wheel, but escaped with a few minor cuts and bruises. The other injured are: Bertram Rich, internal injuries; Miss Stella Nelson, skull fractured, will die; Jerry Mahoney, chauffeur of Morris' car, badly cut.

The machines came together when both turned out to pass other cars on the parkway.

The only clue to the identity of the younger woman killed was a ring with the initials "S. A. D." The other woman wore a tailored suit made by a New York firm. Her shoes had been made by R. H. Fyfe of Detroit, Mich.

BEND EFFORTS TO DEFEAT SPARTA

Locals Hopeful of Winning Despite Rivals' Excellent Showing This Season

Tomorrow at Sparta La Crosse high plays the most important game of the year. Beat Sparta and the season is a success, according to the spirit prevailing at the local school. From reports Sparta is becoming more and more confident of success, the advance dope being a score of about 60 to 0.

But La Crosse high thinks otherwise. As John Robinson, cheer leader, says "We don't care if we had been beaten by Genoa and La Crescent, we could beat Sparta."

Although there are a few doubts, none will admit that there will be a walkaway, and almost every one thinks that from the way the team has been behaving the last few days La Crosse will at least score on Sparta.

There will be a big time at Sparta after the game, including a reception and dance in the evening. With at least 100 La Crosse people there, there is bound to be a good time, no matter who wins.

The high school held one of the most rousing general assemblies of the year this morning, in preparation for the Sparta game. Cheer leader John Robinson asserted himself and told the school what he thought of our chances at Sparta. The general feeling was optimistic and the team will go to Sparta knowing that the school is back of them, win or lose.

Before the meeting Mr. McCormick read a letter from Mr. Bassett of Madison, which highly commended the school on the showing it made during the inspection last Friday. Mr. Bassett is at the head of the inspection department of the state university.

The football number of the Booster is out today.

Good Remedy for It.

Mrs. Keppup made it her private and particular business to have whatever her neighbor had, whether it was a question of chickens or diseases, so when Mrs. Gotthard complained to her one day of insomnia Mrs. Keppup was ready for her. "I have it, too, very badly at times." "What do you do for it, Mrs. Keppup?" "Why, I have never found anything that did me any real good, except to go to bed and sleep it off."

Slimness of Mr. Stephens.

Speaking of Alexander H. Stephens' thinness, perhaps it was never better characterized than by the man in Washington who said that when he was standing on the steps of the capitol an empty hack drove up and Alexander H. Stephens got out.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Words of Praise For Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy

"How thankful were we to you for getting a hold of your Wonderful Remedy. My wife could not have had but a short time to live if she had not taken your Wonderful Remedy when she did. One more of those paroxysms pains she was having would have killed her without a doubt. Now she is free from all pain, free from heart trouble and free from that disturbing Neuralgia—all the results of five treatments—and the expulsion of five or six hundred Gall Stones. Now she is able to eat anything she wants and her appetite is good and before taking your medicine she had no appetite and when she ate anything she would suffer death for so doing and could not sleep at night since taking your treatment she sleeps well all night long. T. A. Neill, Roscoe, Texas."

The above letter should convince you more than anything we could say in behalf of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. Sufferers should try one dose of this Remedy—one dose should convince them that they can be restored to health. Nearly all Stomach Ailments are caused by the clogging of the intestinal tract with mucoid and catarrhal secretions allowing poisonous fluids into the stomach and otherwise deranging the digestive system. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy painlessly removes these accretions. Colic Attacks, Gases in the Stomach and Intestines and all of the usual symptoms of Stomach, Liver and Intestinal Ailments. LAUGHS AT AUTO DIVE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Miss Mary Scheran, rescued from the Chicago river after a thrilling automobile plunge today, laughed at her narrow escape from death and said she was only sorry that the "movie" man hadn't been around. Frank Williams, her companion, failed to note that a "jack-knife bridge" had been raised to permit passage of a tug. The automobile speeded up the rising leaf of the bridge, hung for a moment at the crest and turned a somersault into the river forty feet below. The crew of the tug dragged the couple from the water.

PRISONER FOUND
JUDGE'S RELATIVE

CALUMET, Mich., Nov. 26.—The murder trial of four Wadell men and two local deputies, charged with the killing of two strikers at Seabersville two months ago, was halted suddenly when it was learned that James Polkinghorne, one of the defendants, is a blood relative of Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, hearing the case. His great-grandmother is the grandmother of the judge. Neither knew of the relationship until yesterday. The attorneys insisted on trying all six defendants together, so Judge O'Brien cannot hear the trial.

CHICAGO DARK IN A CLOAK OF FOG

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—For hours today Chicago was covered by an inky pall and lights streamed from the skyscrapers as in the early night. The street cars crept through the Loop with their headlights gleaming and pedestrians made their way with difficulty through the gloom.

The local weather bureau said that the condition was due to a low barometer pressure, centering over eastern Iowa, local cloudiness, and a light westerly breeze, which prevented the heavy smoke, the chief factor in causing the darkness, from lifting its veil from the city.

The slight drizzle was predicted to turn into showers by tonight.

NEW WATCHMAN'S
ZEAL COSTS MUCH

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Jim Crosby, new night watchman at the J. W. Harris manufacturing company, had not been told about the automatic sprinklers. So when he saw the sprinklers pouring water into the second floor early today, he ran down to the cellar to shut off the water, scolding leaking pipes. Twisting the monkey wrench did not seem to work, and Jim telephoned the fire department. When the firemen arrived the blaze had done $100,000 damage.

STILETTO DESTROYS
BEAUTY OF GIRL

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 26.—A vendetta's vengeance upon a beautiful young Italian girl was wrecked Monday night while she, with a girl companion, was walking on the streets of this city.

Miss Frances Demora, a member of one of the families concerned in a recent sensational murder here, and a girl friend left their place of work together, bound for home. They reached one of the darker portions of the street when a tall, dark man grabbed Frances by the shoulder, pinioned her arms behind her and then brutally slashed her pretty face with a keen edged stiletto.

The other girl fled. The fiend fled before completing his crime. He fled through a dark alley and disappeared.

I'm Not Afraid of Any Bill of Fare

If You Use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Each Meal You Can Eat What You Like

It does not make any difference what you eat if you will provide your system with the wherewithal to digest it.

No bill of fare should appall or disgust a man who wants to eat. There is a simple, sure way and that is by carrying a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in your pocket or purse to be eaten after each meal.

"I Love to Get My Hand on a Bill of Fare"

This tablet will go into your stomach like food. It will mix with your digestive juices, strengthen them to their correct proportions. Then it will follow the food into the intestines where it will again aid in the work of digestion.

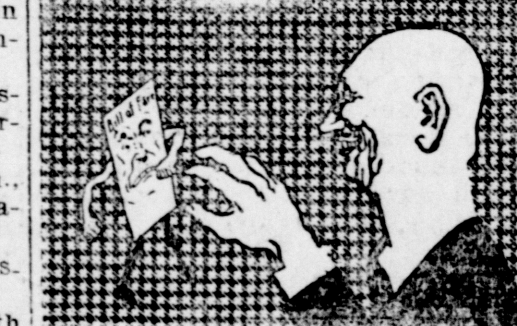

Even though you eat so much at any meal a little tablet taken at the close of your dinner will cause that dinner to be thoroughly digested without harmful effects.

Acute indigestion has no fears for the man who will occasionally use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

We are a nation of "high livers." We travel exceedingly fast in all we do and eating rich food at all hours has made indigestion and stomach trouble our national disease.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will make you free from this danger and the best of it all is that you may test yourself at any time and prove this statement true.

Go to your druggist today and buy a box, price 50 cents.

FIRES AT OFFICER FEARING ROBBERS

Lillian Ruprecht Mistakes Patrolman Last for Burglar and Nearly Kills Him

Emil Last, patrolman, had a narrow escape from death last night when Lillian Ruprecht, daughter of Emil Ruprecht, mistook the officer for one of two men who had been trying to gain entrance to her father's saloon, 211 South Front street, during the absence of her parents.

According to the child's story her father and mother had gone to the theater leaving the little girl and the rest of the children at home.

They, in their play, had gone into the saloon. While there men looked over the front curtains and attempted entrance. Failing they went to the rear door. The girls, frightened, called the police. It was some time before the latter responded, they claim. Captain William Dugan and Patrolman Last went to the scene.

They rapped at the rear door, neglecting, it is said, to tell who they were. She, presuming they were the men who had previously tried to enter, threw open the door and shot point blank into the darkness. The bullet went between Last's right arm and body, cutting his coat.

"Don't shoot—it's the police!" he shouted.

MYSTERY MAN AN EMPLOYE HERE

It was learned today that Alfred Love, a young man who was supposed to have taken Miss Elsie Day, a young lady of Spokane, Wash., from that city to Des Moines, Iowa, in a box car, was an employee of the Monique Candy company until two weeks ago. Police of Des Moines feared a murder when they found a revolver and several other articles in a box car. They started a search for Love, and incidentally learned that the story of the Day girl is untrue. She was supposed to have traveled the entire distance with Alfred Love, when in reality she only traveled from Aurora, Ill. She is from that place, having joined Love who went from here to her home to meet her.

INSANE WOMAN IS TAKEN FROM TRAIN

Mrs. Christian Stabb, home unknown, was taken from southbound Burlington passenger train at 12:05 last night, alleged to be insane. The woman, according to Conductor F. H. Heath, boarded the train at St. Paul and had a ticket for St. Paul. She refused to give this up and acted so strangely that the conductor wired ahead for the La Crosse police. She is being held pending a search for her relatives, said to be in Chicago.

JUSTICE TEMPERED WITH MERCY HERE

Judge Brindley Suspends Sentence in Case of Man Who Stole Coal to Keep Family Warm

"Yet I shall temper so Justice with mercy."—Milton.

Sentence was suspended in the case of August Berg, aged 59 years, charged with stealing coal from the yards of the C. M. & St. P. railroad at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, after he pleaded guilty before Judge Brindley to the charge of petty larceny.

Berg, owing to his elderly appearance, attracted the attention of Judge Brindley who drew from the prisoner the fact that he was fifty-nine years of age. At fifty, he told the court he had married.

"I have at home, Judge," he said, "a wife and two children. One is two years old, the other scarcely over a year. A third is on the way."

"I'm a fisherman but catches this season were not profitable and I'm facing winter with nothing. At home I have neither food nor fuel for my wife or little ones. I have no work and can find none. Yes, I'm guilty—if trying to keep your family warm is a crime—that's all."

Ten dollars and costs was the sentence imposed or fifteen days in jail. "I'll have to sentence you," said the judge, "but sentence is suspended."

Three other men, charged with coal thefts from the Burlington were fined.

Edward Boyne, one of the others, today declared their arrest to be an injustice. He insists the coal they were taking had been shoveled into a ditch beside the tracks and was covered with dirt.

BLOWS OFF HEAD WITH DYNAMITE

Horrible Method of Suicide Chosen by Minnesota Farmer to End His Life

PRESTON, Minn., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Blowing off his head with a stick of dynamite was the horrible method chosen by John Evenrud, Lenora, Minn., to end his life, according to word received from that place today. He was a wealthy farmer.

Evenrud was six months ago released from an insane asylum as "cured." He has been residing at home with his family, but from time to time has shown signs of mental derangement.

Monday, according to information received here, he drove his family to Canton to shop. On the way he appeared to be depressed and worried over the death of a neighbor.

While his wife shopped at Canton he drove out of town and to a secluded place in the woods. Where he secured the dynamite is not known. He tied the explosive to his head, attached a short piece of fuse, lighted it and sat down to wait until the sputtering sparks reached the dynamite. When found he was beheaded.

Insanity is the reason given by the authorities for the suicide and in this they are borne up by facts in the past.

Martin Evenrud, brother of John, went insane some time ago. John assisted in bringing him to town. A few days later he called Sheriff Blexrud and informed him that he was insane and wanted to be hanged.

COULDN'T INSPECT GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—There was no cash grain on the Chicago board of trade today on account of darkness. The grain inspection board reported that the inky cloud settling over the city made it impossible to inspect grain samples, a condition said to be without precedent in the city's history.

The net receipts from the national forests of Washington and Oregon during the past four months amounted to $115,620, an increase of 17 per cent over receipts for the same period last year.

WIRELESS NEWS TO TRAIN AT SPEED

Experiment in Keeping the Passengers Posted at 60 Miles an Hour Succeeds

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 26.—By telegraph and cable newspapers throughout this country and Europe as well as scientific publications besieged the Scranton Times and the Lackawanna railroad officials today for data and photographs having to deal with the wonderful wireless telegraph experiments conducted yesterday when the newspaper established wireless news service with the Lackawanna's limited as it sped on its trip between New York and Buffalo.

The experiment of yesterday, when the Times became the first newspaper in the world to transmit news dispatches hot off the wire to passengers on a moving train via wireless, has astonished the scientific world.

Press dispatches received by the Times over the United Press wire were sent out from the Lackawanna's wireless station here, picked up by the operator on the limited while the train was tearing along at sixty miles an hour, and posted in the coaches and Pullmans for the benefit of the traveling public.

The United Press dispatches covered a wide range and told the passengers of the latest in the Mexican situation, both from the Juarez and Washington ends; of the strike at the plant of the General Electric at Schenectady; the conviction of Jordan at Charleston, W. Va., and other pieces of news of equal importance, timed almost to the minute.

The news service of the Times to the Lackawanna's passengers enroute proved the absolute certainty of the wireless in transmitting messages to moving trains. A complete report of the experiment has been sent to W. H. Truesdale, president of the road.

DOG BANDITS IN PERIL OF POLICE

Amusing Confusion of Testimony Regarding Raids on Local Hen Coops by Outlaw Canines

The bandit canine that has assassinated more than 500 chickens in La Crosse during the past few months, and for whose crimes one innocent dog has been executed by the police, is:

A big, white Pomeranian, according to Fred Goddard and H. Clay Evensen, 221 and 223 South Sixteenth street.

Fred Goddard's black "Wolfe" and H. Clay Evensen's Irish Spaniel, "Mike," according to Odin J. Oyen. The reasons: Between 2 and 3 a. m. today Mr. Evensen was aroused by a maid who said there was someone in Mr. Goddard's chicken coop. Mr. Evensen called Mr. Goddard on the telephone, and the men, having hastily dressed, rushed into the back yard in time to see a white pomeranian rush between them, across the street and disappear over the lawn back of Tom Wooley's residence. Investigations showed that the murderer had forced a hole in the wire fence and killed six of Mr. Goddard's choice chickens. Shortly before 2 a. m. this morning two dogs entered the chicken yard of Mr. Oyen and killed two chickens. Mrs. Oyen recognized them as the Goddard dog and the Evensen dog.

Excepting the addition as to breed, the pomeranian's description corresponds exactly to that in the rogue's gallery at central police station, while none of the former victims have reported a black or brown dog on the chicken forays.

An added complication is the slaying of twelve chickens owned by L. F. Gautsch, 2126 Market street, the same night.

Dr. Evensen today said that his dog was at home at 2 o'clock, and could not have been on a raid at that hour. "Mike" is a splendidly trained bird dog, and will not even bite a chicken in the presence of his master. Wolfe, on the other hand, has a "chicken record" dating from his pup days.

An amusing incident of the evening was the appearance in the vicinity of the Goddard and Evensen residences of two policemen who, with electric flash lights, sleuthed it about the alleys and back yards in quest of the canine highwaymen.

MRS. ULRIKA YANDT DIES OF OLD AGE

Mrs. Ulrika Yandt, at the advanced age of 75 years, died yesterday morning at the home of her son, Fred Yandt, 119 South Nineteenth street. Death came after a few days' illness caused by the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Yandt was born in Germany and came to America with her husband when a young woman. With her husband she settled in Barre Mills. Twenty years ago she came to La Crosse. Her husband died ten years ago.

Surviving her are four sons and one daughter. They are Carl and Albert Yandt of Barre Mills, Fred and Rinard of La Crosse, and Mrs. August Martin of Mormon Coulee. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 Friday morning from the residence, and at 11 o'clock from the German Lutheran church. Rev. Julius T. Gamm, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will take place at the Barre Mills cemetery.

HANISH DISCIPLE OF NUDE BEAUTY

His Writings Read in Court Urge Exposing Bodies to Sunlight and Beautiful Thoughts

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Sun worshippers, who gathered at the trial of their cult leader, Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, charged with sending indecent literature by express, pointed exultantly today at the inky darkness that held Chicago in its grip, while low hung storm clouds hovered over the city.

"See it is Mazdan frowning on this trial," followers of Hanish told reporters. "Our God is angry at the prosecution of the little father and at the way you have ridiculed his book."

Despite the declarations of Hanish's followers, the government prosecutors, working in relays, continued to read from "Inner Studies." Passages read today amused, rather than shocked the spectators, who laughed aloud when Assistant District Attorney Stansbury, declaring from "Inner Studies," announced that "dewdrops are a certain cure for cancer."

"Dew drops gathered in the new moon are particularly good," read Stansbury. "They may be used to cure a number of diseases."

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Jurors in the trial of Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, leader of the Mazdaznan cult of sun worshippers, under indictment for sending improper literature by express, heaved silent sighs of protest today, when they learned that they must send Thanksgiving day in federal court, listening to more pages from "Inner Studies," the "bible" of the sun worshippers, and the book complained of by the government.

"Inner Studies" failed in its early installments to pan out the sensational passages that brought the crowds to the court room. Women spectators were much fewer in number when reading of the book was resumed by Assistant District Attorney Stansbury today.

There are some of the passages read by Stansbury, over which the 14,000 sun worshippers were expected to grow contemplative every morning:

"Love asks no sacrifice; it merely becomes the incentive to call out the love hidden in another. The man who becomes persistent in what he thinks is mad love for you is not in love at all; he is sick."

"Oriental women are the most beautiful because they walk around outdoors for hours, without being hampered by any clothes whatsoever. If we would be beautiful, we should sit around morning and evening airing our bodies and exposing them to the sunlight, while we think beautiful thoughts and the noblest ideas and admire ourselves."

MILTON FIGGE IS CALLED BY DEATH

After suffering for three weeks with peritonitis, Milton Figge, age 20, son of Charles F. Figge, Rose street clothing merchant, died at his home, 1427 Kane street, at 1:45 this morning.

The young man was born on the North side. He graduated from grammar school, and attended high school, from which he graduated last June. Since that time he has been occupied as desk clerk at the Y. M. C. A.

Surviving him besides his father and mother are two brothers and two sisters. They are Wilfred, Carl, Mildred and Dorothy Figge. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Second German Methodist church. Rev. B. C. Brandenburg will officiate. Interment will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

OFFICERS SCHOOL TO BE HELD HERE

Under a new arrangement by Adjutant General Orlando Holway a school for commissioned and non-commissioned officers may be held in La Crosse at regular intervals.

In the past it has been the system to hold one school for all of the three Wisconsin regiments. This necessitated much traveling by some of the officers and it has been decided to hold schools for each regiment. La Crosse, it is expected, will be the place chosen for the Third regiment school.

BOYS WITH SLINGS BOMBARD STREET CAR

Passengers on a northbound street car passing St. Paul street this morning thought they were in a battle when two small boys armed with slings, shots opened fire on them from the curbing.

H. R. James, a traveling man from Milwaukee, journeying to the north side this morning, offered up a prayer of thankfulness when a neatly sliced piece of lead projected from a sling-shot binged a hole through the window near which he was sitting, and dropped to the floor without touching him.

The crew on the car started to give chase to the young Americans, to no avail. They had ducked up an alley. The case has been reported to the police who are looking for the boys.

ORDER 67 SEATS FOR 100 PATRONS

At Least That Many Must Be Supplied During Street Car Rushes in Milwaukee

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 26.—Within the next sixty days, the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company must improve its street car service in the city of Milwaukee so that during rush periods at least 67 seats shall be furnished for every 100 passengers demanding transportation.

In order to facilitate the handling of the crowds expeditiously, the commission has designated two hours in the morning, noon and night as rush periods, when a larger number of cars is required. During the rush hours traffic officers with authority must be stationed at important transfer intersections and at other points where necessary for movement of traffic and maintenance of the schedules. Fare collectors are also to be stationed at important points. The front doors of pre-purchase cars are to be opened and fares collected at both ends.

The commission has had engineers at work on the investigations in Milwaukee for almost a year. The cars have been tabulated and shows the present service to be inadequate. Some of the cars were carrying more standing passengers than seated. There is a complete analysis of the finances of the company, which shows that the improvements can be made immediately without any embarrassment. Hereafter all cars, additional inspectors and other officials appointed by the company to aid in handling the traffic must have the general approval of the railroad commission. Because of the large increase of traffic recently, the commission points out that the company will be obliged to add new equipment at once.

First, that these students attended the W. B. U.

Second, that they found it good and stayed to complete their work.

Dear Mr. Toland: Descanso, Calif., Nov. 17, 1913.

Just a line to let you know I am still on this earth. I am taking care of a set of books for a large ranch here, getting one hundred fifty dollars and board and room a month, with lots of time to play on my violin.

This country sure is lovely, no rain or cold weather out here.

I played at my first concert in San Diego about three weeks ago to about five thousand people, so your violin is still in use.

Yours truly,

Work is progressing rapidly this pleasant weather on the new electric light plant in the Fourth ward, and it is expected the building will be ready for service by January 1. A new dynamo has been installed at the old building and street lights are now furnished during the entire

TAKE SALTS IF YOUR BACK HURTS SAYS DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS

Salts harmless to flush Kidneys and neutralize uric acid, thus ending Bladder trouble.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. Agent, Chas. A. Benschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

MOTHER LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

"He has promised both her and us many times that he would marry her, and last September went so far as to buy a marriage license. Over a year ago he pointed a gun at her head and forced her to take some medicine that he had bought. Recently he wanted her to go to a physician. When she refused, he struck her on the mouth. He often said he had plenty of money."

SHOPS BURN WITH LOSS OF MILLION

Grand Trunk Buildings at Port Huron Take Fire and Flames Get Beyond Firemen

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 26.—The Block 1 shops of the Grand Trunk Railway company were destroyed by fire early today, causing an estimated loss of $1,000,000. The fire started from an undetermined cause about 2 a. m. and, despite efforts of all local fire departments, the entire plant was consumed.

The shops were the largest in Port Huron, employing about 1,500 men. They were used for repairing disabled freight and passenger cars.

This was the second big property loss sustained by the Grand Trunk here in the past few weeks. During the recent storm which swept the Great Lakes region the company's Port Huron property was damaged to the extent of $50,000.

Grand Trunk officials here announced today that the company would immediately rebuild the local works.

FURNISH POWER TO MILWAUKEE ROAD

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 26.—A contract has been closed between the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company and the O. I. Newton Sons company of this city, whereby the local corporation will furnish electricity to the Milwaukee road for the use and operation of its electric block signal system between La Crosse and Mauston, at least, with the possibility of making the eastern terminal of the Sparta electricity another station or so toward Kilbourn.

The local company is equipped for the furnishing of the juice, except that there will be one moment at about ten thirty in the evening when the power is shut off long enough for the switching of the power from the local power station and the switching on of the power from the Angelo station, when there would be absolutely no electricity in the wires and every arm and semaphore on the signal system would drop. The local company is about to purchase a machine which will keep the current constant and will save the necessity of the little-wink which the lights give at ten thirty in this city. Then there will be constant current.

The railroad company expects to get its electric block signal system in shape so that it can be in operation in the spring of 1914. A crew of men are setting poles in this vicinity now. The poles hold two cross arms and a single bracket at the extreme tip of the pole. It is said that the main power wire will be strung on this single bracket at the tip of the pole.

Contractors Webster and Son are making good headway with the D. Hemstock barn building, which they are moving from its Main street location to the new location on South Water street immediately south of the electric light company's up town office. The west half of the building is in Jefferson avenue and well on its way to its destination. The east half is blocked up and will be moved as soon as the first half is located.

The concrete floor which was put in this building some years ago by Mr. C. W. Johnson will be taken up in large squares and re-laid in the new location. The stable part of the new building will have a brick floor as it will be less slippery and more serviceable and a damaged section can be taken up more easily.

Charles Roy spent the first of the week at Summit looking after his ginseng garden.

Miss Blanche Hulbert who has been the guest of relatives in Sparta for the past three weeks, returned to her home in Barron, Wis., Saturday evening.

Mrs. Gage Baldwin of Duluth, is the guest of her husband's parents.

The Entre Nous club met with Mrs. Claudia Merrill yesterday afternoon.

Miss Hazel Miller went to Tomah Tuesday afternoon and is assisting as

Reading Between the Lines.

To get the good of the library in the school of life you must bring into it something better than a mere bookish taste. You must bring the power to read between the lines, behind the words, beyond the horizon of the printed page. # SMART COSTUMES FOR EVERYDAY By MAY MANTON

LIVES there a woman who does not respond with enthusiasm to the procession of new and pretty costumes? This autumn we may be really charming in the truest sense, really graceful and attractive, if only we will choose our garments well, for La Mode has treated us with great generosity and there is spread before us a variety of attractive models and so many new fabrics as well as the familiar ones in new colors and design that the season seems almost over-weighted with opportunity. Silk has become an established favorite for general wear, for silk today means something soft and pliable, not over-elaborate but light in weight, soft in texture, delightful to wear and altogether agreeable. Manufacturers are putting out certain silk and wool mixtures also that are really fascinating, and there seems almost no limit in designs, such as brocade and broche effects, plaids, stripes and the like. Young girls always like plaids and they are always becoming.

PLAID costumes or plaid skirts worn with shirt waists are exceedingly smart. To be in the very height of fashion there must be a wide belt. The plaids of the season are unusually interesting, and there is a plaid eponge that is quite new. The younger contingent likes the designs that show bright tones, but green and blue mixtures and quieter colors are apt to be preferred by the more mature; but the only determining factor should be becomingness. What one woman at forty wears with success is absurd upon another. The effect upon the individual is the only true test.

Apparently no blouse is to be finished with a high neck. If the round neck and square neck are not becoming, we will wear chemisettes, but the blouse must be slightly open to be smart. Trimming materials, or materials that are adapted to trimming use, are marvels of beauty, and there are color effects to be obtained that would delight an artist's eye. Among new shades is tango red, which is really a sort of modified and beautified terra cotta. It is marvellously beautiful trimmed with black, and the color seems to suit the moiré velvet that is such a pronounced favorite. On one of the figures is shown a gown of that material in the tango shade with trimming of black brocade velvet.

Drapery, when used, is slight for simple costumes, but there is a tendency toward massing it at the front. To be really fashionable, the waist must be as broad as the shoulders and the hip line must disappear, and everything that tends toward bringing about that result is in vogue. bination, for the black enhances the blue in a marvellous way. Since we are to wear combinations, it is well to consider color effects, for good contrasts are charming, but it is quite possible to make those that are crude and only disagreeable.

Almost as a matter of course, serge is a favorite, for serge is one of the standbys that never can be overlooked. It makes one of the most durable and practical of all materials for girls this season almost every costume is closed at the front; but no woman thinks of beginning a season without shirt waists. They are like the bread and butter of the daily diet, not to be dispensed with, whatever of fancy costumes must be done without. We will wear them of washable satin and of tub silks and we will wear them of linen, soft finished piqué and madras. For the colder weather, fine washable flannels are admirable and much liked.

ones, as liked. Some of the new costumes show the dropped shoulder line, but the plain sleeves sewed to the armholes are in every way correct and continue all their vogue.

Schoolgirls find the long waist lines or blouses made in Balkan style thoroughly comfortable and satisfactory. They are pretty, too, almost always becoming to girlish figures; and frocks ones are as pretty in color and design as are those of greater cost. For the breakfast jackets, the soft wool challies, the handsome French Henriettas and the new silk and wool poplins are really ideal; for kimonos there are materials so fascinating that one would like to own an indefinite number. The flowered crêpes and the challies woven in Japanese design are especially attractive, but plain colors are more becoming to many women, and very lovely effects can be obtained by using simple albatross with bands of plain silk or flowered or figured ribbon, for ribbons this season are a study in themselves, and they show the most beautiful colors and designs.

THE Empire line is a very generally becoming one and this season it is exceedingly smart. To be really fashionable, almost every costume must show a touch of bright color, and often the house gown is made in quiet tone to be trimmed with figured or flowered silk, of which there is an almost limitless variety.

MAY MANTON'S FASHION NOTES.

THE study of the individual is absolutely essential to really beautiful dressing is one axiom of the great designer—M. Poiret, that every woman may well take to heart and never was it more necessary to remember its truth than at this present time. All the world is looking to the Orient because of many conditions and fashion, as a matter of course, follows the general trend. Undoubtedly rich colors will be much used. Sumptuous materials are being much exploited. All brilliant and jewelled effects are being used. Beads are everywhere. Is it any wonder that there is need to stop and think before ordering a costume under such conditions? Dealers are clever. They show these wonderful creations against a background of quiet gray or some such neutral tone and each stands out vividly. Unless one is on the outlook, it is a little difficult to remember that, transported into the home or into the ordinary drawing room, the result will be quite different.

AMONG other exploitations, we have had Parisian models shown in a setting of a Persian garden. All the wonderful color effects were harmonious but scarcely one of the colors would have been beautiful in contrast with others likely to be met at any great function or against the background of the ordinary ball room. Again the models that are chosen to exploit these costumes are selected with great care. The woman who forgets these facts and is carried away by effect will have cause to rue her own thoughtlessness. Many of the fabrics that are superb in the piece are really much too rich and luxurious to make really effective gowns. They are handsomer spread out for exhibition than they can be cut or draped. Such fabrics are really suited only to the Court train and treatment of similar sorts and should be worn by the woman who because of rank or position will be separated from the crowd. They lose their beauty in close contact with other things. Since these materials sell for twenty-five and fifty dollars a yard, it may be comforting to remember these facts. Quiet colors and simple designs as found in beautiful materials make the wisest choice and this winter we have a generous supply. Duvetyn in silk and in wool is exquisite. Wool velours makes really fascinating costumes and cloaks and in the realm of silks and satins are to be found combinations of textures and surfaces that are ravishing.

WE are in a rather curious position as regards feminine dress. Many of its features have been criticised severely and are objectionable to every thinking, delicate mind, yet, on the other hand, there are hygienic conditions that have not been known for many generations, if at all, since corsets were first introduced to the world of dress. The up-to-date corset leaves the diaphragm free to develop. There are no restrictions. The fashionable costumes of today as compared with those of our great grandmothers who did not hesitate to slip the corset lace over the head post and pull against it to obtain the required size of waist, are ideal for healthful development. It is a pity that, when we are allowed to breathe deeply and to move freely, we should allow good things to be destroyed by extremes that can not fail to bring them into disrepute.

PERHAPS there is no more beautiful fabric among the many shown than silk and wool crêpe in broché effect. One of the gowns in this picture shows that material with trimming of satin, and the contrast of crêpe surface with the rich satin is exquisite. The color of the gown is one of the grayish blues that will have great favor throughout the season and the trimming is black. It would be hard to find a more beautiful com-school dresses and general hard usage, and it always can be trimmed with satin or with velvet to relieve the dull surface. Eponge in all wool and in a mixture of silk and wool is liked for simple gowns also and is of good weight for the autumn season.

ALMOST without exception, the better gowns are made in semi-princesse style—that is, with the blouse and skirt joined—and but it hardly need be said that tub silks are the smartest of all materials that are so made are in great demand. The belts and girdles that make the necessary finish give a pretty touch, and they allow a note of color that is so important, for even the darkest, most serviceable dress can be worn with a bright colored belt and tie. Rolling collars make the rule, but the sleeves are long and finished with soft, folded over cuffs or plain straight

They are really comfortable ones must wear pretty garments, for no woman is at ease when she does not feel herself becomingly attired. Here are graceful and attractive negligees and a comfortable home gown. In addition to being smart, they are all so simple that they can be made almost in the traditional "jiffy." Never was there better opportunity offered for fashionable fabrics as marvellously beautiful, and the simple

What He Would Say.

A Scotch minister took pity upon an Irish laborer toiling in the ditch on a hot summer's day, and, fetching the bottle and a glass, refreshed Pat with a glass of whisky. Pat was exuberant in his expressions of thanks. "Begorra, sir," he said, "it's good; it's just to me like mother's milk to an infant." "But what would the priest say," said the minister, "if he knew that I was giving you this drink?" "Begorra, sir," said Pat, "what would he say now, but just this—'Give him another.'"

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Disappointing cables from Liverpool today took the edge off yesterday's bull movement and wheat opened today with December down 1/4c and May steady.

Favorable news from Argentine inspired an easier feeling at Liverpool. During the forenoon session, December regained the 1/4c loss, but the market locally was very dull.

Corn had a lower cable, but muggy weather over America offset the bearish news abroad. Consequently prices here were about steady on yesterday's close, futures moving in a narrow range.

Oats were steady with the other grains at the start, suffering fractional decline in the forenoon.

Provisions started a shade easier while hogs were under liquidation but firmed toward noon.

Trade in the grain pits was almost at a standstill in the afternoon, grain futures closing at noon prices.

Provisions closed at noon figures.

JOHNSON ENTERS WRESTLING GAME

Gains Favor in Paris Debut by Keeping His Temper When Struck

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Jack Johnson, the negro fighter whom the French boxing commission demoted, was again in popular favor with Parisians today, because of his conduct in last night's wrestling bout at the Nouveau Cirque with the German, Urbach, which ended in a riot.

Johnson made his debut as a wrestler by meeting the German, who is vastly unpopular because of his unfair methods. It was a catch-as-catch-can affair and the negro threw the Teuton twice. After the second fall, Urbach struck Johnson in the face. The negro only laughed and did not retaliate. The crowd surged about the ring, threatening Urbach and the police cleared the place. Several arrests were made.

TINKER RELIEVED AS BOSS OF REDS

Fired Because of Quarrel Over Extent of Manager's Authority Over Club

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 26.—August Hermann, president of the Reds, said today he had no idea who would be selected to succeed Joe Tinker as manager next season. Directors announced last night that Tinker had been relieved of the management because they could not agree regarding the extent of the manager's authority in running the club. Tinker will be traded.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—"The best thing Garry Hermann can do now is to hurry up and trade me," said Joe Tinker today, commenting on his removal as pilot of the Cincinnati Reds by a vote of the league directors. "I would hardly consider playing ball in a Red uniform next season."

"I told Hermann some time ago that if I was to manage the team next season I must have absolute control. My experience of last year taught me a lesson. Whenever I suggested anything it was considered proper for the club officials to discuss it and turn it down. When they pulled a 'boner' I got the blame. Aside from that interference, I was absolutely satisfied in Cincinnati."

KILBANE STILL FEATHER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 26.—"As long as there are any good bouts left for me in the featherweight class, I certainly shall not go out of it for fights," said Johnny Kilbane today in answer to the report that he was about to take on lightweights. "I can easily make 122 pounds and why should I endanger my reputation by taking on heavier boys?" Jimmy Dunn, the manager of the featherweight champion, said he believed that Johnny would soon be forced to go after lightweights, as the crop of eligible feathers is very small.

WILSON TO ATTEND

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 26.—The coaches planned to take up today's practice session by giving special attention to individual players on the Navy squad.
